

Nishi Whiteley, Medical Cannabis Speaker & Author

Nishi Whiteley (pronounced Nee-sha), is a business development and marketing consultant turned cannabis educator, speaker and author. After seeing the relief cannabis provided her mother at the end of her battle with lung cancer, Whiteley was inspired to share what she has learned so others would benefit from her mother's experience. Whiteley aims to help the sick and suffering, their caregivers, clinicians, and legislators understand the merits of cannabis as a safe medicine bringing science and reason to the forefront of our conversation about cannabis.